

Reinhardtstraße 46 | 10117 Berlin

Phone: +49 (0)30 28093620

Mail: infos@tiefkuehlkost.de

www.tiefkuehlkost.de

IT'S FRESH. IT'S FROZEN.

About us

Founded in 1956, the German Frozen Food Institute (Deutsches Tiefkühlinstitut, dti) is the communication platform and interest group for the frozen food industry in Germany. The association is based in Berlin and represents the sector with members from all parts of the frozen food chain: frozen food production, suppliers and service companies for logistics and storage as well as wholesale traders and direct delivery. dti is the competence centre for frozen foods and an industry network with the conviction that an exchange of opinions and experiences creates more knowledge for each individual. In dialogue with consumers, sales partners, politicians, the media and society, dti ensures a positive image for frozen foods and creates the best possible business conditions for the industry. Detailed information available at: www.tiefkuehlkost.de dti supports the work of FMIG in order to competently accompany the export activities of companies in the frozen food industry. FMIG's service helps small and medium-sized enterprises in particular to gain a foothold in foreign markets.

Our portfolio for your success

- 150 members
- 90 years of frozen food: 1930 - 2020
- Per-capita consumption frozen food 2019: 46,9 Kg
- Anuga Frozen Food Partner
- Anuga Culinary Concepts Partner

#COOLICIOUS
Frozen Products.
1000and1 possibilities.

