Passion for Fine Organic Oils

About us

As the first purely certified organic oil mill in Europe, we have been producing organic oils from seeds, fruits and nuts for more than 35 years. In 1984, Franz J. Moog started to turn his vision of organic farming in Bram, France into reality. His daughter Judith Faller-Moog continues his legacy until today. She specialized in the natural production of organic oils and founded the brand BIO PLANÈTE, currently the market leader in organic retailing.

In 2004 a second company was founded in Klappendorf, Germany, on site of the organic farm „Faller Landwirtschaftsbetrieb“. The „Ölmühle Moog GmbH“ now employs over 140 people in an otherwise very rural area. More than 70 different cold-pressed oils are being produced in organic quality: From “classics” such as rapeseed and sunflower oil to “gourmet” products such as walnut and pumpkin seed oil to linseed and black cumin vitality oils to support a healthy lifestyle.

Our portfolio for your success

From the field to the bottle, we take care of every process ourselves. We are able to do this because we have been at home in the world of organic oils for more than 35 years, also shaping it to some extent. Our mission is to be the expert for organic oils. We thus remain curious and continue to build on our expertise and share our knowledge with our partners, suppliers, and customers.

Each bottle of oil goes through as many as 18 analyses. Even the raw ingredients are inspected and tasted, both in the country of origin and in our oil mill. Additional tests are carried out in production, after the pressing and filtering stages. At the end of the process, our quality experts sample the products once again. Only when we are completely convinced by the flavor do we send our oil on its way to our customers.
