Kulinaria stands for healthy indulgence

About us

The Association of Industrial Culinary Product Producers represents the common interests of producers of fine food, soups and deserts, vinegar and mustard as well as like culinary products in Germany. The association has more than 120 members, most of them small and medium size enterprises. The association gives advice to the members in branch related economic, legal and technical issues and cares for fair competition within the sector.

Our portfolio for your success

Why is membership in the industry association worthwhile?

We know your products! Our work is based on decades of experience with the products and attribute of „our" industries. Whether soups, sauces, delicatessen salads, vinegar or mustard - with us you will find the know-how about raw materials, composition, names and recommendations for quality assurance.

We develop the product-related regulations! All product-related regulations are largely discussed, developed and continuously updated in the specialist committees of our association. In addition, the association is represented in the DLG Convenience Commission and discusses the complex requirements on which the quality tests for ready meals are based.

The active participation of our member companies in the committees is an important component for legally secure and successful innovations.
We are your lobby group!
Our information is tailor-made!
We look after you individually!
We are your industry get-together!
