Delicatessen products are the pride of our family.

About us

From the founding as an agricultural trade company in 1912 to a medium-sized company with more than 600 salaried employees today, Heinrich Kühlmann GmbH & Co. KG has always been an independent family company. A genuine partnership based on trust, a love of our region, sustainability that we live and work by, and the highest possible quality continue to be very important to all the generations of our family. Company management based on both traditional values like respect, esteem and harmony as well as passion is the foundation of our company's success. We think in generations, not in financial quarters: Hendrik and Senta Kühlmann represent the future of the company. They are the new generation that continues with our traditional values, lives by our pioneering spirit and boldly breaks new grounds.

Our portfolio for your success

For generations our family company has been oriented towards giving our customers a culinary treat with tasty and good food. We have always been focusing on the wishes of our clients and creating new trends. Our product portfolio ranges from various tasty fine food salads, antipasti and spreads to dips and desserts for the retail as well as foodservice sector and food industry. For our production, we exclusively use fresh, mostly regionally sourced raw materials and products. Fulfilling the highest hygiene and food safety standards is for us as important as the use of fresh ingredients and the considerate and careful processing of the raw materials.

Our creative kitchen artists love to look beyond their own nose and let themselves be inspired by international culinary influences. While doing so, they constantly bring fresh impetus. Besides this, our traditional and beloved fine food salads of course permanently belong to our assortment. In short, nothing left to be desired.
