Indulgence is a matter of taste

About us

Spices are more than just a fascination for us. Since 1929 they have been our passion. The Hanseatic merchant family Terheggen took over the spice mill Carl F. H. Seyer and dedicated themselves to refining and processing spices. Today the company trades under the name Terheggen & Dethlefsen after Jürgen Dethlefsen joined the organisation and for over 90 years have stood for continuous further development. Over time, the classic range was extended by a diverse mixture of spices and finally complemented by our own product development and customer specific mixes. Today we develop spicy products, mainly for the delicatessen, soup, sauce and fish industries.

Innovation, experimentation, courage. To exceed your expectations, we take a variety of approaches. We believe in uncompromising quality and the positive effect of collaboration: We listen carefully, in order to develop the products which meet your requirements. Our portfolio for your success

Over 500 different raw materials give us numerous combination possibilities. One of those is exclusively reserved for you. Our highly experienced development team creates new products on time and as requested. Each developmental process is a new challenge for us, with the goal to find the best solution for you. We look forward to a taste experience with you and are curious to find out what your unique recipe will be.
