Innovative Solutions For Excellent Products

About us

Expand your innovative edge in the market with Oltmer Food Consulting GmbH (OFC) as your independent partner. The topics for joint projects are diverse: from the development of innovative products and processes via effective and efficient hurdle concepts for food safety, to solutions for reducing overall costs across the entire process chain from raw materials to the end product.

A special focus is also placed on food sensory evaluation with the in-house developed OFC Pro-Senso software and app, practice-oriented sensory training for the establishment of sensory panels and ongoing refresher courses for these as well as on sensory evaluation as part of development projects for customers.
