Fine brands with tradition

About us

Since 1891 the name „Keunecke Feinkost“ stands for high-quality delicatessen products which up to this day are very popular amongst consumers. During its first years Keunecke produced canned fruits and vegetables. Later on, the assortment was changed by and by into the production of canned meat and poultry products, pâtés and ready-to-eat meals. Since privatisation in 1990 the demand for Keunecke products has been growing. Furthermore, in 2007 Keunecke invested in establishing a new production site and entered the segment of chilled ready-to-eat meals and soups. Today three strong brands stand for the different market segments Keunecke is working in: Keunecke delicatessen ready-to-eat meals and soups, the Harzer pâté specialties and the three CARNITO pasta sauces. For Ekkehard Heilemann - managing director and great-grandson of the founder - it is particularly important that all Keunecke products reflect the philosophy of his enterprise, with quality ranging as the top priority. In combination with creativity and flexibility, the Keunecke Feinkost GmbH continuously strives to adapt to changes in the market and to meet consumer's desires.

Our portfolio for your success

The name Keunecke stands for quality for more than 130 years which is documented through numerous awards and certificates. We only use best raw materials as ingredients which are checked by our thorough quality management system. These internal analyses and monitorings are complemented by frequent checks and surveys through external and independent auditors. In the course of these controls independent external experts check our production processes very thoroughly and thus lay the ground for the growing consumer trust our products have been enjoying during the last years. As quality is a continuous process also in the future we will concentrate all our efforts on maintaining and improving the high level of quality of our products - as quality is a matter of trust and for us a matter of course.
